FUGITIVE PIECES

Monday, October 27, 7:30pm

Canada/Greece 2007

Director, Jeremy Podeswa

English, Greek, Yiddish/Subtitles, 105 min.

Luminous and absorbing, Fugitive Pieces is the love-filled story of Jakob's journey as he confronts his past and present life. Seven-year-old Jakob is rescued from Nazi-occupied Poland by Athos, a Greek archeologist. Athos smuggles Jakob to his idyllic Greek island and brings him up as his own son. Although sheltered by the love and the care of his adoptive father, Jakob is still haunted by memories of his family. When we meet him as an adult, Jakob is married and lives in Toronto. But how can he commit to a trusting relationship? How many pieces will it take to make him whole again and able to embrace life?

Based on the celebrated novel by Anne Michaels, Fugitive Pieces is a finely distilled and compelling film with a powerful cast led by Stephen Dillane, Ed Stoppard, Ayelet Zurer and Rade Sherbedgia.

"Satisfying... deeply engaging" indieWire

"A summary barely captures the qualities of Fugitive Pieces" –Roger Ebert

SOMEONE TO RUN WITH

Wednesday, October 29, 7:30pm

Israel 2006

Director, Oded Davidoff

Screenwriter, Noah Stollman

Hebrew/Subtitles, 118 min.

Asaf's job is to track down the owner of a Labrador found wandering the city streets. The dog leads him to various people and places and eventually to a girl named Tamar. A month earlier, Tamar had transformed herself and entered the seamy underworld of Jerusalem with her dog, Dinka. What propelled Tamar to place herself in the middle of this frightening world? What separated her from her beloved dog? The more Asaf learns about Tamar, the more connected he feels to her. A totally engrossing story right to its mysterious end, the film is not only entertaining and touching but it also reveals a Jerusalem that few have ever seen. Based on the highly popular book by Israeli author David Grossman, Someone To Run With won a best actress award for Bar Belfer at the Miami International Film Festival.

Special thanks to the Embassy of Israel.

"Stirring and thrilling" –Seret

"A charming and captivating piece" –Ynet

"Gripping and tough... rhythmic like Run Lola Run" –City Mouse

A SECRET*

Wednesday, November 12, 7:30pm

France 2007

Director: Claude Miller

French/Subtitles, 100 min.

- * Winner of the Cesar Award
- ★ for Julie Depardieu, and the
- ★ Grand Prix of the Americas
- * Prize of Montreal ★

Adapted from Philippe Grimbert's prize-winning, fact-based novel, A Secret is a beautiful story of passion and guilt in post-war Paris. Francois, a young, somewhat frail teenager, uncovers the truth about his parents' past. Before the war, his father, Maxime, was married to another woman when he fell madly in love with Francois' mother, Tania. Along with Francois, we learn about his parents' life in Nazi-occupied France and how they survived. It is now 1985 and Francois, a young Parisian, is looking for love and happiness.

This wholly absorbing tale is a superbly drawn study of human behavior, featuring remarkable performances by Julie Depardieu, Mathieu Amalric and Patrick Bruel. A Secret is a cinematically stunning gem that will captivate you from beginning to end.

*Adult viewing

"Maintains suspense until the final reel. Miller is in top form." –Variety
